SHIATSU — JAPANESE FINGER PRESSURE

A program of mental and physical fitness development which will increase energy, enthusiasm, and effectiveness. Housewives, students, truck drivers, dancers, joggers, business executives, senior citizens, and tennis players — people from all walks of life can learn to master their own key points to tonify the muscles, improve performance and help maintain top physical condition. These benefits can also be felt by others that are less active but seek to improve their condition.

SHIATSU is the most active of the acupressure techniques. It is the name of a 4,000 year old Oriental touch technique designed to promote the flow of the body's "vital energy force" by administering light pressure to a series of basic acupuncture points, through the clothing and without pain.

Shi (finger)atsu (pressure) is not a massage technique. It deals with energy, and as such becomes a method of self-awareness, self-improvement and touch communications. Shiatsu's effects are marked by an increase in sensitivity, perception and vitality. Participants will easily learn a full body technique in a technical presentation and will leave the course with a practical ability to touch and inspire those around them.

LOCATION: College Center, Kitimat

INSTRUCTOR: Len walker

Len is an Associate Teacher and member of the Board of Directors of the North American Shiatsu Institute. He has been conducting Adult Education workshops in California and British Columbia for several years and brings to the northern communities a unique acupressure technique.
