Northwest Community College recognizes that residents are denied the opportunity to continue their education due to family or geographic limitations. For many other people the programs they need or would like to take have traditionally not been available in the Northwest.

Northwest Community College is working co-operatively with the Knowledge Network of the West (KNOW) to bring a variety of credit and non-credit programs to communities throughout the Northwest. These programs represent a wide range of both general education viewing for children and adults, as well as telecourses of specific interest, and several live courses and seminars where telephone interaction is available. Anyone may view Knowledge Network programs and participate in "Active T.V.". In Hazelton these programs are offered for viewing at the College Centre.

Knowledge Network guides will be available at the College office in early September. We would like to urge people who are interested in KNOW programs to write the Knowledge Network and ask to be put on their mailing lists. Current guides and rescheduling information will then be sent directly to your home without charge. The address for this service is:

KNOWLEDGE NETWORK
2206 East Mall
University of British Columbia
Vancouver, B.C. V6T 1W5

There will be a Preview Week on the Knowledge Network for courses being offered by various institutions in the province for the Fall 1982 session. A schedule will be arriving at the College soon, and will be posted there. Please contact our Knowledge Clerk for further information after September 1st at 842-5291.

A full page insert regarding Knowledge Network scheduling will appear in the Interior News the first week of September.

CANADA WORLD YOUTH

HAZELTON AREA TO HOST INTERNATIONAL EDUCATIONAL EXCHANGE

Sixteen young people who are participating in the Canada World Youth program will be visiting Hazelton for ten weeks this Fall. Half the people will be Canadians from all across the country and the other half, young people from throughout India.

Following discussions with representatives of local community groups and services, industry and business, and government departments, it was clear that Hazelton would be a very good community to be involved in the program.

The Hazelton area was identified as a good hosting community for many reasons, including its size, its economic base and its physical setting. The most important quality, however, is that the people in the area were interested in hosting the exchange.

Canada World Youth, a private non-profit organization now in its eleventh year of operation, is an international educational exchange involving young people from Asia, Africa, and Latin America. The participants generally range in age from 17 - 22. The purpose of the exchange is to increase participants' awareness of and interest in other cultures as well as issues of community, national and international development. For the participants, the program is seven months, half of which they spend living and doing volunteer work in a community in Canada and the other half in a community in the exchange country, in this case India. Two field staff representatives, one from Canada and one from India, will be responsible for co-ordinating and supervising the group while in the country.

People involved in hosting exchanges in other B.C. communities in previous years have been enthusiastic about the program. They say they have learned a great deal about other cultures and have enjoyed participating in the group's education programs. The organization also finds that once a community has hosted the exchange, more young people from the community apply to the program in following years.

For further information write: Canada World Youth, 2524 Cupress St., Vancouver, B.C. V6J 3N2. Ms. Peggy Robbins is the group leader in Hazelton. For information about the Canada World Youth program you can contact her during the day at 842-5291.
