CANADA WORLD YOUTH

HAZELTON AREA TO HOST INTERNATIONAL EDUCATIONAL EXCHANGE

Sixteen young people who are participating in the Canada World Youth program will be visiting Hazelton for ten weeks this fall. Half the people will be Canadians from all across the country, and the other half young people from through Indonesia.

Following discussions with representatives of local community groups and services, industry and business, and government departments, it was clear that Hazelton would be a very good community to be involved in the program once again.

The Hazelton area was identified as a good hosting community for many reasons, including its size, its economic base and its physical setting. The most important quality, however, is that the people in the area were interested in hosting the exchange.

Canada World Youth, a private non-profit organization now in its eleventh year of operation, is an international educational exchange involving young people from Asia, Africa and Latin America. The participants generally range in age from 17 to 22. The purpose of the exchange is to increase the participants' awareness of and interest in other cultures as well as issues of community, national and international development. For the participants, the program is seven months, half of which they spend living and doing volunteer work in a community in Canada and the other half in a community in the exchange country, in this case Indonesia. Two field staff representatives, one from Canada and one from Indonesia, will be responsible for co-ordinating and supervising the group while in the country.

For further information, write: Canada World Youth, 2524 Cypress St., Vancouver, B.C., V6J 3N2.

TRAINING ENTRY AND TRADES TRAINING

TRAINING ACCESS PROGRAM (TRAC)

(This program replaces some programs formerly known as pre-apprenticeship and pre-employment training programs.)

The Training Access Program (TRAC) is an innovative approach to trades training. TRAC provides students with an exposure to the knowledge and skills common to all the various trade specialties within the program before they are required to select a specific training specialty. Furthermore, TRAC is designed on a modular basis which allows students to move through the program from one level to the next. Continuous entry into the program on a 12-month basis is a further feature of this program. A wait-list system is established whereby students are contacted in advance of their anticipated start date.

This program consists of three levels of training.

Each level of training is divided into modules. Each module contains a group of skills. These skills are presented in self-paced learning packages that students will work through at their own individual rate. A realistic time frame will be maintained.

Audio-visual materials with practical assignments supervised by qualified trades persons have been developed.

Students who have had previous training and experience may challenge tests and assignments, and if successful, may move through the program more quickly.

British Columbia Student Assistance Plan

This is a comprehensive program of assistance for post-secondary students to ensure that British Columbia residents are not denied the opportunity to reach their educational objectives due to financial constraints.

The B.C. Student Assistance Program is composed of two inter-related components:

- (a) The Canada Student Loan Plan, funded by the federal government and provincial government, and provincially administered, allows for a repayable loan of up to a maximum of $1800.00 per educational year. (Amount may be subject to change.)
- (b) The British Columbia Provincial Grant Program, funded by the province, allows for a non-repayable grant up to a maximum of $1700.00 per educational year. (Amount may be subject to change.)

The amount of assistance awarded is based on assessed need as determined by the provincial authority.
