SELF DEFENSE COURSES

Everyone needs to know the basics of self defense and street awareness. These courses will show participants the way to respond to aggressive behaviour and attacks.

INSTRUCTORS: Derrick and Rita Rothermel have been working with women and children since 1978. Goshin-Do's Women's self defense workshops are well-known in the interior and have been presented at the Terrace Women's Resource Centre to a very satisfied group.

Violence against women has affected both Derrick and Rita's lives. These incidences have driven them to try to create change - to help to end the assaults, rapes and murders.

The goal of these workshops is to give women preventative training before violence happens!

SIDESTEPPING THE POWER STRUGGLE #19213

This day long workshop is intended for people who feel that too much of their time is lost to futile power struggles with others with whom they must live, work or relate. The workshop aims to help participants develop awareness and skills that help them sidestep unproductive power struggles (not to be confused with a failure to be appropriately assertive when necessary). Recognizing the patterns and ways one relinquishes personal control to the power struggle (not the other person) provides opportunities to minimize seemingly unavoidable conflict. If you are a person who has felt your buttons being too easily "pushed" by others, this workshop should be of some help.

DATE: Apr 25
TIME: Fri 9-3
INSTRUCTOR: Dr. Tom Strong
FEE: $130

BEING MALE AND GRAPPLING WITH RELATIONSHIPS IN THE 90'S #19214

This course will look at the challenges of being male in the 90's. Many men feel emotionally distant in the relationships they have with their partners, children and friends. This workshop has been developed to help men look beyond the limiting myths that prescribe a masculinity that has no need for emotional closeness. After examining the social and other messages which inhibit male views on the possibilities for closeness, attention and practice will be devoted to the risks and skills involved in responding to the challenges of relationships. In completing this workshop, men should feel more empowered to be respectfully proactive in meeting personal emotional needs in their relationships.

DATE: Apr 24
TIME: Sat 9-3
INSTRUCTOR: Dr. Tom Strong
FEE: $130

SUCCESS SERVICES FOR STUDENTS

Northwest Community College is dedicated to helping our students succeed! No one should be hampered by physical limitations either! Our services provide tapes, tape recorders, photocopy passes for lecture notes, talking books, interpreters and sign language interpreters. Equipment is also available on a loan basis such as: therapeutic chairs, touch talker computer, braille/MPrint, magnifying readers, etc.

Lianne Gagnon is the coordinator of this service. Should you require further information or assistance please do not hesitate to call 624-6054, local 5731.

STUDENT SUCCESS WORKSHOPS UPCOMING IN 1995!

These FREE workshops are offered to students of Northwest Community College, and, if space allows, to the public. They are offered on a lunchtime basis. If you are interested and not a student of NWCC, please call early to register!
