Our region

Located in the coastal mountain ranges of Northwest British Columbia, we have some of the most amazing landscapes on the planet. Balance your studies with outdoor adventure at our campuses.

From Vancouver, take a short flight to Terrace, Prince Rupert, and Smithers and other campus communities are reached by car or bus.

Summer days are long, with average temperatures of +20°C and winters are mild with average temperatures of -5°C. Our students experience rain, sun and snow while living in Northwestern BC.

We offer high quality and affordable education in one of the most beautiful places on earth.

Located in Northwest British Columbia, our communities have thriving cultures and rich traditions. Our campuses provide a safe learning environment, where we educate students from all over the world.

Cultural connections

Local Indigenous communities guide how we include culture and knowledge into the Coast Mountain College experience.

It is important to recognize and respect all First Nations land and people in each of the communities Coast Mountain College serves. First Nations culture plays a huge role in campus atmosphere and Canadian society.

Our classes support First Peoples' principles of learning and recognize relationships between traditional cultures of our region and success of our students.

We develop programs connected to cultural, social, political, and economic values; connected to realities of Indigenous communities we serve.

Land acknowledgement

Coast Mountain College acknowledges that our campuses reside on the unceded territories of the Ts'ymsyan, Nisga'a, Haida, Gitsxan and Wet'suwet'en First Peoples.

The Terrace campus is located on the traditional territory of the Laxgibuu (Wolf Clan) of the Kitsumkalum, Ts'msyen First Nation.

The Smithers campus is located on the unceded territory of the Cas Yikh house who are part of the Wet'suwet'en First Nation. The Prince Rupert campus also resides on Ts'ymsyan Traditional Tribal Territory.

The Smithers campus is situated on unceded Wet'suwet'en First Nation land.

The Prince Rupert campus resides on unceded Ts'ymsyan traditional territory.

Campuses & experiences

There many outdoor activities on our campuses and in our communities. Our libraries lend bikes, snowshoes or fishing rods. Get outside and explore!

Student life

Each campus hosts various events. Film series, beer and games nights, mountain hikes, First Nations cultural workshops, dance groups and much more at Coast Mountain College.

The Terrace and Smithers campuses have pedal bikes for students. Campuses host conferences, symposiums and other community-based events that students are welcome to attend. Each campus offers the Leaders in Action program for students to organize on-campus events and become on-campus leaders.

Prince Rupert

In Prince Rupert, our downtown campus is two buildings with an interconnecting breezeway and classrooms, computer labs, science labs and the innovation lab. Community gatherings are hosted at the multi-purpose room, where the large windows let in the sunshine.

The campus is busy with the large library, multiple seminar rooms, trades facilities, a Learning Resource Centre and student Lounge.

Terrace

The Terrace campus is located on 30 acres with surrounding mountain ranges and is approximately five kilometres from city centre.

A cafeteria, with food prepared by students, is open for breakfast and lunch. The Cedar Café offers food, coffee, and a bright study space. The Cedar building has a commons area with a study space, breakout rooms and funky furniture.

The Terrace campus has a newly renovated library with study stations, student supports, and a central area for sharing. This gives students an area for learning, research and studying surrounded by wood accents and stunning art created by graduates and faculty from Coast Mountain College.

The campus yurt is located in the courtyard and is a teaching lab space for classes.

The fitness centre has cardio equipment, free weights and functional training equipment. Change rooms have showers and lockers.

At the south end of the campus stands Waap Galts'ap, the longhouse used for student-centered and cultural activities. CMTN is the first and only institution in Canada with a traditional First Nations structure on its campus grounds.

The Terrace campus also has brand new student housing with Indigenous art created by alumni and instructors at Coast Mountain College. This stunning building opened its doors in the fall of 2021.

Smithers campus

Smithers is a town of approximately 5000 people that serves surrounding First Nations and Bulkley Valley residents. The town has shopping, restaurants and breweries. Smithers has sports all year long such as canoeing, kayaking, golfing, downhill and cross-country skiing.

The local ski hill is a short 20-minute drive from downtown that offers student discounts. Events like Midsummer Music Festival and the Fall Fair are always fun for students. There is a strong music scene in Smithers and an art gallery, museum and many theatre performances throughout the year

Campus

The building is bright with natural light and heated with geothermal energy and represents three themes—forestry, resource management and Indigenous culture. The themes symbolize Coast Mountain College’s connection to the communities of the Northwest.

The campus has a large gathering area and bright learning spaces. With video conferencing technology, we offer a variety of courses offered in distributed learning .

Student life

Smithers has a welcoming atmosphere and many international students. In this small community, students are usually a short bus ride or walking distance from the campus. The main common area is for student gatherings and has a ping pong table. The campus has bicycles and snowshoes available for lending through the library and popular events are the Wet’suwet’en War Canoe Paddle on Tyhee Lake and the horse drawn sleigh ride in the winter.

Admission requirements

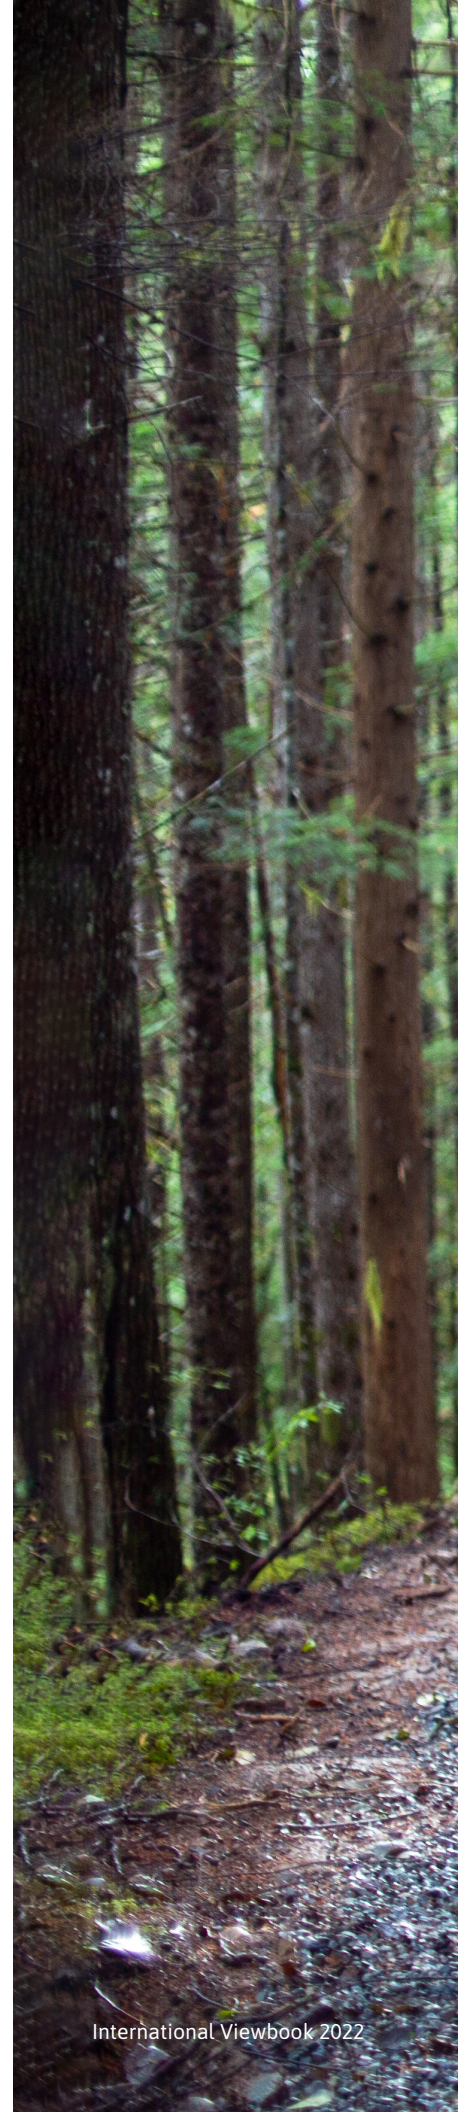

CMTN recognizes various courses and tests to satisfy the four components of language (listening, speaking, reading and writing) required to be successful in your studies. If you do not meet the English language requirements, you can demonstrate your proficiency through an evaluation method such as TOEFL, IELTS, or more. Upgrading individual courses in our programs may require the equivalents to Biology, Chemistry, Physics or Math. If you are missing these equivalents you may enroll in Career & College Preparation (CCP) upgrading courses while you complete the program. View the entrance requirements for your program for details. Speak with an international advisor to learn more about our upgrading options.

Working in British Columbia

The British Columbia (BC) economy is growing and there are lots of opportunities to find work while you study or after you graduate. Many international students find work easily and have jobs between semesters. Minimum wage in BC is $15.20 per hour. CMTN provides education that prepares students to work at jobs and careers that are located in the region and throughout Canada.

Student Housing

Student housing in Terrace helps students live comfortably and affordably while studying at CMTN. This new building has traditional art that represents the First Peoples of the region. Student housing has a large cultural space, student rooms, hotel suites, an elders suite, shared kitchens, collaboration areas, a computer lab, an Esports room, and bike storage.

Off-campus housing

In Terrace, Prince Rupert and Smithers you can expect room rentals to be $500-$800 per month. House, apartment, and basement suite rentals are usually $900 or more per month.

Coast Mountain College has partnered with the Canada Homestay Network to provide homestay services in Terrace. Live with a local host family to experience Canadian culture while in a safe, family friendly environment.

West Coast culinary diploma

Prepare for a career as a Chef

Industry experts from Coast Mountain College host you in modern and high-tech campus kitchens to teach you to become a Chef of the West Coast. Understand our local food, how we source, harvest and process food in the rainforests of British Columbia and train in our kitchens and on the land. Learn from Indigenous cultures and elders.

Your future as a Chef

There are exciting opportunities as a Chef. You can work in fine dining restaurants, in remote mountain work camps or own a food truck. Be prepared for various careers in the kitchen. You will have Industry Training Authority (ITA) level 2 certification after completion of the program.

Cooperative Work Placement

Earn your diploma through an essential co-operative work placement. It is great kitchen experience and you earn money while working outside the classroom. Must be completed to graduate the program and it totals 50% or less of your study program.

You are required to have a valid co-op work permit before you start work. You are not allowed to use the co-op work permit to work outside these approved terms even if the permit is still valid.

Don't delay! Start your application for a co-op work permit when you receive an official letter of acceptance and also apply for your study permit.

Required for West Coast Culinary Diploma

- Grade 12 OR Mature Student
- English Studies 10, English First Peoples 10 or equivalent AND
- Apprenticeship & Workplace Math 10 (AWM 10) or higher
